

ADDITIONAL ACCOUNTING RESOURCES KEEP THIRD-PARTY FUND ADMINISTRATOR AHEAD OF THEIR GROWING BUSINESS

BUSINESS SITUATION

Our client was growing rapidly and needed qualified personnel to support their needs. The client was faced with a dilemma. The firm didn't have enough resources to build its core business and devote the time and effort needed to screen for applicants and train new hires.

SOLUTION

The client's business offering included complex financial products and services that required staff with a diverse set of accounting and fund administration skills. Beaird Group identified these needs, and was able to secure "right fit" consultants with the requisite experience and skills in hedge fund administration, commodity pools, and other investment areas.

With minimal training and direction, Beaird Group consultants were able to assist the client immediately. The consultants provided support and service to the client's broad range of customers, freeing the client's team to concentrate on meeting the critical demands of its growing business.

IMPACT

The client was able to achieve high growth for its business while continuing – with the support of Beaird Group consultants – to provide high quality products and services to its clients. As the demands of growth leveled off, the firm was able to hire its own fund administration team and Beaird Group consultants helped train and on-board the client's permanent staff.
